HeyGov Municipal Payment Solution Integrates with Accounting Software For Seamless Municipal Payments

HeyGov, the 2022 Information Technology category winner of the Wisconsin Governor's Business Plan Contest, announced the integration of its municipal payment solution with Workhorse, Banyon, and Civic Systems. The integration aims to provide municipalities with a comprehensive solution that streamlines their services and enhances their financial management capabilities. Currently 60% of the users eligible for the integrations have tested their internal processes and are using them regularly. 100% of the users are ready to have systems automated by the end of this week.

HeyGov is committed to providing municipalities with a payment solution that is fast, secure, and convenient. In CEO and Founder Dustin Overbeck's words "make Clerk-work easier... the everyday tasks that take time and can become tedious."

With the integration of Workhorse, Banyon Data, and Civic Systems, HeyGov will provide municipalities with a citizens payment portal that automates payment processes, eliminates manual data entry, and provides real-time financial reporting. Online payments are just another payment method such as cash and check, and with HeyGov they will be automatically deposited to a municipal bank and automatically reconciled with an accounting software. "The integration of HeyGov with Workhorse, Banyon Data, and Civic Systems is a major milestone in our mission to provide municipalities with a payment solution that helps them save time and money," said Overbeck. "This integration will provide municipalities with a seamless transfer of data to make informed decisions, reduce costs, and improve services to their citizens."

HeyGov is currently used by over 180 municipalities in 20 states. For HeyGov, this is a great next step after winning the Wisconsin Governor's Business Plan Contest last year, as it allows for deeper collaboration and wider connections with municipalities to help them streamline their services.

Civic Systems and Workhorse are well known in Wisconsin and the latter boast three decades of experience. Banyon, from neighboring state Minnesota, shows a strong reputation in this state.
