

YWCA Greater Green Bay Receives $10,000 AT&T Contribution to Support Women Affected by the Digital Divide

AT&T contribution supports the Women's Empowerment Center

GREEN BAY, Oct. 16, 2023 – As part of AT&T's nationwide commitment to help bridge the digital divide, AT&T is contributing $10,000 to the YWCA Greater Green Bay to help local women with limited internet access.

The AT&T contribution will support the Women's Empowerment Center at the YWCA. The Center offers a variety of programming to help women in need obtain employment, including digital literacy training, internet access, and professional clothing.

"Our mission is to empower and equip women to chart their own course toward personal fulfillment and economic self-sufficiency," said Amy Schaeuble, Executive Director, YWCA Greater Green Bay. "For the women we serve, access to computers and digital training can be a big barrier to their success. We are grateful to receive this contribution from AT&T to support the Women's Empowerment Center and our efforts to provide digital literacy to women in need."

Many served by the Women's Empowerment Center are low-income women of color who do not have access to computers or the internet. The Center provides digital skills classes and individual career assistance to women, including how to use Microsoft applications, search job websites, and create and upload a resume and cover letter. YWCA staff also provide trainings and demonstrations on how to use Teams and Zoom so women can interview virtually or take classes online.

"We believe all Americans should be connected to the future, regardless of income or zip code," said Robyn Gruner, Director of External Affairs for AT&T Wisconsin. "We know too many people face challenges to success due to digital barriers, especially underserved communities. AT&T is proud to support the YWCA Greater Green Bay as they empower women in need through digital skills and literacy training."
